

Patent Search Services

Our Mission

Van den Berg IP aims to provide a patent searching service, which is of a high quality standard and can be tailored to your needs.

Our Philosophy

The high quality is rendered through an optimal searching strategy and scope combined with a consistency in the searching competence. In addition, we can provide an appropriate selection of relevant documents, which is reflected in our tailored reporting. Our intention is to optimize the time the responsible patent attorney needs to do the assessment.

Our way

To support this we would like to be transparent and have an open communication. We will be transparent about our searching strategy so that you can check and provide feedback when needed. In addition to this, we would like to understand your search question as well as to know how you would like to have the search results reported.

Our Technologies

Our services extend to all areas in the chemistry field including life science. Our team has profound experience with handling structure searches as well as biotechnological searches including sequence searching.

OUR PRODUCTS

Freedom-to-operate (FTO)

Before you bring your product to market it is essential to assess the existence of third party patents that might cover your product or intended use. We can perform the search supporting such an FTO assessment.

Validity

When a third party patent stands in the way of marketing your current or your future product, you may want to assess the validity of such patent. The basis for such an assessment is a validity search.

Landscape

To provide an overview of patent families relevant for a specific product or technology.

Patentability

To assess whether an idea is an invention (and patentable), a patentability search should be conducted.

Patent legal status

When a patent right is potentially relevant, we can monitor the legal status of this patent right so that you can react in time when so needed.

Patent publication overview in specific field

This service enables you to follow any new developments in your field of technology. The provision of this service can be at your desired frequency.

Opinion

We can also provide the corresponding opinion on patentability, validity or freedom to operate.
